Frequently asked Q&A about Senior promotions in the Medical College

1. Where can I find the information about promotion to senior ranks?
   - Under Promotion Toolkit and Rush Medical College – Appointment/Promotion and Tenure webpages

2. How many years are required between the ranks to be considered for the next promotion?
   - 5 years

3. Are there exceptions to this 5-year rule?
   - Yes, but only in a very rare situation, in which the faculty member demonstrated unique accomplishments that go above and beyond requirements

4. How many tracks do we have?
   - Single track with multiple pathways

5. What are the key areas of excellence?
   - Research
   - Education
   - Clinical
   - Service

6. How many areas of excellence are required for promotion to Associate Professor?
   - Combination of any two (research, education, clinical, or service)

7. How many areas of excellence are required for promotion to Professor?
   - Combination of any three (research, education, clinical, or service)

8. Is there a term for senior ranks?
   - No

9. Where to start if the faculty member feels that she/he is ready for promotion
   - Read COSFAP policy and guidelines
   - Update CV in the Faculty Management System
   - Identify the areas of excellence, in which the faculty member has excelled the most
   - Prepare a short summary of key accomplishments in each area of excellence to have a conversation with the chair of the department or division chief

10. Which types of letters are required?
    - Letters of evaluation from INDEPENDENT evaluators: minimum of three for Associate Professors and five for full professors
    - Letters of endorsement: no set number; if teaching is one of the grounds for promotion, letters from FORMER trainees are expected

11. Is there a difference between lateral appointments for new faculty hires vs promotions?
    - Yes, for lateral appointments, department has to submit the chair’s letter and faculty member’s CV using Rush CV format. The chair’s letter should detail how faculty accomplishments are aligned with Rush requirements

12. Is there a CV template?
    - Yes, electronic format built into the Faculty Management System
    - Or CV template as a word document found on RMC Appointment & Promotion Dossier Requirements page

10/1/2021 – Office of Faculty Affairs
13. Which ranks are considered senior ranks?
   - Associate Professor
   - Full Professor

14. Which ranks are qualified as tenure?
   - Senior ranks: Associate Professor and Full Professor

15. Which ranks are considered junior ranks?
   - Instructor and Assistant Professor

16. When should the faculty member start thinking about promotion to the next rank?
   - As soon as the faculty member has been appointed/promoted to the current rank

17. Does COSFAP meet during COVID time?
   - Yes, the fourth Wednesday of each month

18. Who should request the letters?
   - Department chair or his/her designee responsible for faculty promotions in the department

19. Where should the promotion/appointment packets be submitted?
   - Faculty Affairs email: Faculty_affairs@rush.edu

20. Is there a minimum number of peer-reviewed publications required?
   - No. Continuous scholarly productivity is expected

21. Are there templates for the chair’s letter and request letters for endorsement and evaluation?
   - Yes. All templates can be found under RMC Appointment & Promotion Dossier Requirements webpage

22. How is the packet assembled?
   The packet is assembled in order of certain documents:
   a. Checklist for Promotions/Appointments (on this page, write the areas of excellence the faculty member is being put forth for)
   b. Recommendation form
   c. Letter from the Chair
      - The letter from the Chair is written in a step by step manner outlined in the sample chair letter. It should clearly state the 2 or 3 main criteria on which the candidate is being put forth for promotion (i.e. Education, Research, Clinical excellence, Service).
      - The letter outlines his/her regional, national, and/or international repute which should be noted as applicable.
      - The current percentage of effort devoted to each criteria is required.
   d. One Sheet Candidate Summary
   e. CV in COSFAP Format
   f. Letters of Evaluation – in the order which they are listed in the Chair letter
   g. Letters of Endorsement – in the order which they are listed in the Chair letter
   h. Supporting documents – Each area of excellence requires supporting documents submitted in addition to standard packet documents. Examples are on page 33 of the COSFAP policies & procedures.
23. What is the difference between Letters of Evaluation and Letters of Endorsement? What distinguishes the two?

- Letters of Evaluation are letters from truly independent outside experts.
  - The letters must come from individuals outside of Rush and its affiliated institutions and not from collaborators or mentors with whom the candidate has worked in the past five years.
  - It is required that the majority (two of three for Associate Professor and three or more for Professor) of the letters come from institutions where the nominee has never been a faculty member.
  - Letters from former mentors can be viewed as Evaluation letters if such letters provide an independent assessment of the nominee, if the nominee has demonstrated sufficient independence from the mentor, and if the nominee has not worked with the mentor for the past five years.

- Letters of Endorsement are supportive letters from people with whom the candidate has worked closely.
  - If submitting letters from students/trainees – these must be from former students/trainees to avoid potential for undue pressure
  - When the promotion is based on education, letters from former trainees would be required.