Log I | Create Account | Application Deadlines | Apply Online | Events

Complete the Create an Account Information.

Within the Academic Interests Section at the bottom of the form, select "Student-at-Large" as your College and then choose the Student-at-Large Academic Program based on the College that houses the courses you're seeking to take. For example, HSC 372: Medical Terminology is offered by the College of Health Sciences. NSG 532: Advanced Physiology is offered by the College of Nursing. If you're unsure of which Academic Program to select, please visit the Student-at-Large Information page.

After signing in or creating an account, click "Apply Online" in the top ribbon:

Click "Start a Rush Application" on the Applications Listing Page:

Note: If you've previously created an application, you may be prompted for your academic information again.

Complete the biographic information portion of the application on Page 1. Within the Education Program Section on Page 2 of the application, select "Student-at-Large" as your College and then choose the Student-at-Large Academic Program based on the College that houses the courses you're seeking to take. If you're unsure of which Academic Program to select, please visit the Student-at-Large Information page.

Based on your selection of Academic Program, additional information will become visible and should be completed before submitting your application.

Prospective Students-at-Large are not required to pay the $40 application fee. The Fee Waiver Code can be found below the signature line and above the submission button.
