Rush University SRNAs continue to be hard at work, both in the OR and out. Please help us celebrate their accomplishments as they journey through the path to becoming a CRNA!

Check out the IANA Spring 2022 Journal for more program updates

“Every great accomplishment rests on the foundation of what came before it; when you trace it back, you’ll see one small step that started it all” Stephen Guise
AWARD
Alex Delgado (2022 cohort) was awarded the 2022 Commitment to Excellence Award by Dean Christine Kennedy

PUBLICATION
Lauren Coggins (2023 cohort) co-published Effect of Remote Cardiac Monitoring System Design on Response Time to Critical Arrhythmias in The Journal of the Society for Simulation in Healthcare (vol 17, issue 2)

PRESENTATION
Ashley Blythe (2022 cohort) and Danielle Daoud (2022 cohort) will be presenting their doctoral project, Improving Interdisciplinary Communication & Anesthesia skills in Cardiopulmonary Bypass (CPB) Cases, at the AANA Foundation “State of the Science” Oral and General Poster Session at Annual Congress in August 2022

SERVICE
Garrett Dupree (2022 cohort) provided anesthesia in Kenya with Kenya Relief, an organization that provides medical and surgical care, as well as education and outreach to the Kenyan community. Surgeries, such as hernias, goiters, mastectomies, adenoidectomies were performed for adults and children